Big Snow Blankets City Area

While area residents began digging their way out of the 10-inch snow which blanketed the area Monday night and Tuesday, city and highway patrolmen report no serious accidents from the ice-slicked streets and highways.

Only minor fender bendings and a jeep which overturned west of Canyon were investigated by the patrolmen. No one was injured when the jeep overturned, and patrolmen righted it and sent it on its way.

Meanwhile, temperatures were still below freezing Wednesday morning after a reported low in Canyon of five degrees below zero.

The official forecast for Randall County calls for rising temperatures Wednesday afternoon and Thursday, however.

Canyon's schools, which were closed Tuesday and Wednesday because of the snow, plan to reopen Thursday, according to superintendent Joe A. Gibson.

Joe Gidden, manager of Southwestern Public Service here, said the snow had caused no difficulties in electrical service in this vicinity.

Minor difficulty was encountered Wednesday morning in the Amarillo area, but electrical service to residents in this district has not been interrupted, he said.

"We were most fortunate," Gidden said in pointing out that lack of wind was the chief factor in the area weathering the snow without serious trouble.

And as always when this area gets a good supply of moisture without causing serious damage, farmers were smiling.

Grand Jury Returns Two Indictments

Two indictments were returned Monday by the Randall County grand jury.

Eugene Lee, 41, Plainview, was indicted on a charge of driving while intoxicated, second offense. Later Monday, Lee pleaded guilty before Judge Gene Jordan of 47th District Court and was sentenced to five years on adult probation.

The second indictment was on a charge of wife desertion.

Typical of the residential growth of Canyon is the Money Addition, located in the southwestern sector of the city. One home has been constructed in the subdivision, and the home shown here is under construction. Total building within the city was nearly $3 million in 1959, city manager Herschell Stevens reported.

58 New Homes Added to City

Construction reached new heights within the City of Canyon for 1959, figures released this week by city manager Herschell Stevens reveal.

The construction figure is a million dollars more than that recorded for any previous year.

Construction amounting to $2,939,983 was started in 1959, topping the peak construction year of 1956. Some $1.9 million worth of new construction began in 1956.

Big Role Played

As is usual when a new high in construction is reached, educational facilities played the biggest role.

Buildings worth $1.4 million were started at West Texas State College, and a new Canyon High School worth nearly $1 million is now taking shape.

In addition, 58 new homes have sprouted up in Canyon. Forty-five of these residences have been built or are under construction, while another 13 homes were moved in.

22 Homes Remodeled

Some 22 residences were remodeled and another 10 homeowners added rooms to their present residences. Seven home garages were built during the year.

Meanwhile, commercial growth within the city lagged behind residential expansion. One new service station is now under construction, three apartment developments were built, and one apartment house was moved in from out of town.

Three new stores were constructed, two concession stands opened, one drive-in opened, one store was remodeled, and one cafe expanded.

All Not Recorded

All of the construction started during 1959 is not reflected on the city's building permit total, however. Permits for the construction at WT were not issued, and permits for the new high school are being taken out in $5,000 amounts.

Actual permits issued by the City of Canyon total only $600,450. The remainder will be reflected in the permits issued during 1960, Stevens said.

All but $32,550 of the $600,450, however, was absorbed by residential development.

Most for Residences

The Floyd Richards Construction Company has taken out only one $5,000 permit for the new high school and a church is now being constructed at a cost of $2,500. Remainder of the money went for the limited commercial development and for residential expansion.

The 45 new homes for 1959 is the third largest total recorded for that phase of development. In 1951, 57 new homes were built and in 1955, 46 new homes were constructed.

Construction figures for the five previous years were: 1954, $1.6 million, 1955, $1 million, 1956, $1.9 million, 1957, $.8 million, and 1958, $1.8 million.

College Work Begun

Work began last month on two dormitories and an addition to the Student Union Building at WT. A boys dormitory is being constructed at a cost of $445,692, a girls dorm for $539,566, and the SUB addition is costing $380,274.

Total construction costs at the new high school will be $979,001.

Even without the new high school and work at the college, Canyon compares favorably with other cities in this area on total residential development.

Canyon vs. Hereford

In Hereford, which boasts a population of 8,200 as compared to Canyon's 5,300, residential building permits for 1959 totaled $562,000, according to figures given the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Commercial expansion in Hereford, however, outstripped that done in Canyon by a considerable margin. Some $163,900 worth of commercial development occurred in Hereford in 1959.

Number of Firms Rises in County

Five new businesses were started in Randall County during 1959, a report released this week by Dun and Bradstreet, Inc., national credit rating organization, reveals.

Wayne A. Clark, manager of the firm's Amarillo office, reported the growth in the Dun and Bradstreet Reference Book for January, 1960.

Basing his facts on a count of the January edition, Clark says that the number of businesses has grown from 133 in January, 1959, to 138 at the present time.

The Dun and Bradstreet Reference Book lists all manufacturers, wholesalers, and retailers who seek or grant commercial credit.

It does not include some of the service and professional businesses, such as beauty and barber shops, security dealers, and real estate brokers. Therefore, the figure for businesses in Randall County would be higher than the 138 quoted by Clark.

In a tabulation run in 1958 by Roland Black, executive secretary of the Canyon Chamber of Commerce, it is reported that 185 retail stores and other businesses exist in the county. Some 94 of these firms are located in Canyon.

According to the Chamber of Commerce tabulation, the number of businesses in the county has more than doubled since 1950, and the number of businesses within the city has risen by about one-third.

In 1950, there were 83 businesses in the county and 65 businesses in the city.

Livestock Show Set for Jan. 23

The Randall County Junior Livestock Show will be held January 22 and 23 in Canyon, it was announced Tuesday by J. I. Fletcher, president of the junior livestock association.

Although the called meeting Tuesday night was cancelled because of the weather, Fletcher said there would be no changes in the rules for the show. It will be operated as it was last year, Fletcher said.

The show will be held in the city barn, as it was last year.

Randall County 4-H and FFA boys and girls are expected to show around 70 or 80 hogs, 35 lambs, and 10 steers in the show. Several of the animals also will be shown in the Amarillo show.

Animals entered in the show must be taken to the city barn by the afternoon of January 22. Judging will be done the morning of January 23, and the sale will be held during the afternoon of January 23, Fletcher said.

Judges, committeemen, and officers of the livestock group will be announced later, according to the president.

Probe by Grand Jury Due in Auditor Row

With a grand jury investigation pending, county officials continued a week-long row over the appointment of an assistant county auditor.

A. W. Lair, county criminal district attorney, told the Randall County Commissioners and E. T. Cummings, county auditor, that the Randall County grand jury plans to investigate "the assistant auditor situation."

Lair said he knew of the pending investigation because the grand jury asked for information, to be given at the next meeting.

Political Hay

Charges and counter-charges by county officials continued to fly over the appointment of Mrs. Billy Ann Pruet as assistant county auditor by Judge Gene Jordan of the 47th District Court. Jordan's action came after Cummings filed an application to have Mrs. Pruet appointed at a salary of $3,000 a year.

Cummings said yesterday that he would welcome any investigation by the grand jury of any financial affairs of the county, including the assistant auditor situation.

"My opinion is that newspaper reports are attempts by one or two politicians to make political hay," Cummings said.

Fuss Continues

County commissioners continued to fuss about the appointment by the district judge, who, under Texas law, appoints the auditor and assistant auditor and sets their salaries. The commissioners are responsible for paying the salaries, although they have no control over the officials.

B. E. McCormick, precinct 1 commissioner, has charged there is not enough Randall County work to justify an assistant.

Clarence Beckman, precinct 2 commissioner, said the commissioners put Jordan's notice of appointment in the minutes "but did not approve it."

Deluge of Complaints

McCormick charged last week that he had had a deluge of complaints from people who, McCormick said, did not understand that the county commission had nothing to do with the appointment.

Cummings said from evidence submitted in commissioners court Monday, "it was a sprinkle, not a deluge."

The auditor also said he had asked the commissioners to approve payments for secretarial work, but they had always turned him down. He said Mrs. Pruet would be doing secretarial work but it was necessary to appoint her as an assistant auditor because of the conflict between the commissioners and him.

Grand Jury Members

Members of the grand jury are John Ekelund, Amarillo, foreman; Travis W. Payne, Happy; E. W. Woods, Floyd Tomlinson, Mrs. Dorothy Neblett, Mrs. Ada Busteed, R. B. Gist, Jr., Emil Olson, and Frank Begert, all of Canyon; L. E. Mason of Wildorado; and Jack Vincent and C. G. Fowlkes, both of Amarillo.

Date of their next meeting had not been set.

Jot 'Em Down Store Closed But Humor of Lum Lives On

It's definite now that the Jot 'Em Down Store is padlocked forever. That's the word from Lum Edwards (pronounced Ed'erds) hisself.

But the many fans of Chester H. Lauck, creator of "Lum," half of the popular "Lum and Abner" comedy team of radio, still have an opportunity to hear the former storekeeper.

He'll be in Canyon January 29 for the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet at the West Texas State College cafeteria.

Tickets Are Available

And in addition to hearing a very humorous talk, Canyonites attending the banquet will be served boneless breast of chicken. Tickets cost $2.50 each and are available at the Chamber of Commerce office or from any member of the chamber's board of directors.

In speaking of the closing of the Jot 'Em Down Store, Lauck said, "When national advertisers turned to television, radio sponsors were hard to come by. So we closed the Jot 'Em Down Store.

"We shook hands that we'd never open it again — and we haven't. That was June, 1954."

Now An Oil Executive

Lauck has been an executive assistant with Continental Oil Company of Houston since 1955. When asked why Lum and Abner chose not to make the transition from radio to television, he jokingly said, "we just didn't want to do to television what we had done to radio.

"My partner and I felt 25 years in show business is enough. We're really interested in preserving Lum and Abner as they were, instead of relegating them to mediocrity.

"Besides, Abner says he's awful fur behind in his settin'."

Started in 1931

In 1931, Lauck and his boyhood buddy in Mena, Ark., Norris Goff, hit upon the country store characters and gave them a try on a Hot Springs radio station. Encouraged by fan mail, they went to Chicago, where Quaker Oats grabbed their show immediately.

Several sponsors followed Quaker Oats and kept Lum and Abner continuously on the air until 1954, when the Jot 'Em Down Store closed forever.

Lauck and Goff took all the voices of the characters who would troop in and out of the mythical Pine Ridge store. These included such noteworthy citizens as Squire Skimp, Cedric Weehunt, Grandpappy Spears, and Dick Huddleston.

Made 12 Moves

In the early '40's, Lauck and Goff moved to Hollywood where they made 12 Lum and Abner films while originating their show from the coast. They still get residuals when these old relics play on the late show.

As an executive assistant with Conoco, Lauck travels more than 100,000 miles annually for his firm. Always interested in the oil business, he enjoys meeting people and visiting parts of the country he's never seen before.

On the go constantly, he recently spoke in 18 states in just one month. And the states were spread from coast to coast.

Still Taking Bows

"Never having come in contact with audiences while in radio, I'm now taking bows for the work we did for 25 years," he said.

Today Lum and Abner record albums are treasured possessions in homes throughout the country. More than 50 sets of twins have been named after the Arkansas team. And hundreds of independently-owned Jot 'Em Down Stores, which bear the title of the radio show's make-believe general store, are found from coast to coast and as far north as the Alcan highway in Alaska.

Lauck says he occasionally gets together and reminiscences with Goff, who is enjoying retirement at LaJolla, Calif., and "catchin' up on his settin'."

March-of-Dimes Play Postponed

A March-of-Dimes benefit play, "The Night of January 16," which was to have been presented Friday in the district court room, has been postponed indefinitely, according to Duane Howard.

The play, given by the senior class of Canyon High School as their class play, was to have been repeated with the same cast, with proceeds going to the March-of-Dimes.

Because of bad weather Tuesday, the cast could not meet for rehearsals.

4 One-Act Plays Upcoming at BIT

A menu of four outstanding one-act plays will be presented Friday and Saturday nights in the Branding Iron Theatre at West Texas State College by Buffalo Masquers, campus dramatics club.

The nights of one-acts will feature two of the best-known works of Tennessee Williams, "The Long Goodbye" and "27 Wagons Full of Cotton."

Also to be presented are two fantasies, "The Will 'O the Wisp" by Doris Halman and "The Maker of Dreams" by Oliphant Downs.

Curtain time each night will be 8:15 p. m. and admission will be 50 cents a person. The plays are student-directed, under supervision of William A. Moore and Robert L. Antrim.

"The Long Goodbye," directed by Gary Wyatt of Dimmitt, will feature in the cast Danny Parr of Lubbock, Jo Beecher of Dimmitt, Glenda Green of Stratford, Erin Wertenberger of Hereford, Truman Dunahoo of Muleshoe, WAM Moore of Canyon, John Gilliland of Hereford, and Dwayne Smith of Pampa.

Director of "27 Wagons Full of Cotton" is Penny Cox of Amarillo. Cast features Rena Aikens of Amarillo, Durward Jacobs of Hereford, Jerry Ballew of Perryton, Dunahoo, Gilliland, and Elizabeth Malin of Allison.

Miss Beecher will direct "The Maker of Dreams," and the cast includes Gary Wyatt of Dimmitt, Barbara Myers of Canyon, and Danny Parr of Lubbock.

"Will 'O the Wisp" will be directed by Bonnie Scott of Amarillo. The cast includes Miss Aikens, Miss Cox, Tooky Scott of Amarillo, and Darla Borum of Borger.

Montgomery Boy Still in Hospital

A five-year-old Amarillo boy is in "satisfactory condition" at Neblett Hospital after being injured when he was struck by a car in front of his grandmother's home shortly after noon Monday.

Roy Leslie Montgomery, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Montgomery, 1414 Hayden, suffered fractures of both legs and head injuries.

L. D. Caldwell, chief of police, said the accident occurred when the father let the boy out across the street from the home of his grandmother, Mrs. Corene Montgomery, 1907 Third Avenue. The youngster darted into the path of a car driven by Lee Rogers, 2708 Second Avenue.

In Retrospect

Few periods of history have been as exciting, as challenging, and at the same time, as frightening, as the decade now drawing to a close. In fact, at this time, it is difficult to see it in proper perspective. That will have to be done by future historians who look back upon it from the vantage point of time.

With the arrival of the 1950's, the Twentieth Century passed its mid-point. The first 50 years had proved a period of turbulence and violence such as the world never before had known; and the past 10 years, while not so turbulent as the preceding decade, has been a period of confusion and anxiety. Yet, at the same time, it has brought unparalleled prosperity to the American people.

The decade called the "Fabulous Fifties," was one of recurring crises. It was a time of tragedy and triumph; of strong contrasts and stunning sequels; of wars (hot and cold) and of precarious peace; of noble achievements and of degrading betrayals of public trust. It was a time when men reached for the stars, literally and figuratively; but one in which some sank to new levels of moral depravity. It saw burgeoning wealth spread until it seemed poverty was about to be abolished; but also witnessed the cheapening of the U.S. dollar through inflation. It was a period which saw America grow rich and powerful; but also one which revealed an alarming erosion of the nation's moral fiber.

Like a panorama, the scenes of the 1950's pass before our eyes: the war in Korea, with its tragic aftermath; the revelations of spies within our midst, seeking to betray the nation into the hands of its enemies; the volcanic eruptions of the social order throughout the world, bringing us face to face with many crises; the death of Stalin, followed by the rise of Malenkov, then of Khrushchev; revolt in Hungary, brutally crushed by the Russians; the Suez imbroglio; thunder in the Middle East and Far East; revolutionary outbreaks in Latin America.

At home, there were political upheavals, charges and counter-charges in Washington, revelations of corruption in labor unions. There were weird decisions by the Supreme Court which led to no end of confusion, and other events on the negative side of the ledger. On the positive side were greater diffusion of wealth which led to the lifting of the standard of living; scientific triumphs, such as the discovery of the Salk vaccine; and a swing back to religion on the part of the people.

And of course, there was the beginning of space explorations, the outcome of which no one can foresee.

The decade is closing on a note of both fear and hope—fear of annihilation of humanity in a nuclear war; hope that such a war may be avoided and mankind march on to a new Golden Age of peace and prosperity.

There is little doubt that we are standing at a crossroads of history. The fate of humanity may be decided in the 1960's. No one knows what lies ahead, but whatever it is, man will greet it — as he always has — with hope and at least a modicum of confidence.

Missiles and Highways

The cost of our Federal Interstate Highway System may be boosted again —to the tune of a billion dollars.

The Defense Department is insisting that all bridges built for the system have a 17-foot clearance instead of the present minimum of 14 feet. The extra three feet, it says, are needed to permit passage of future missile-carrying truck beds.

The change, if adopted, will cost about $300 million—and that is only the beginning.

The men in the Pentagon want interstate bridges already constructed to be enlarged to provide that additional three-foot clearance. Such reconstruction would cost an estimated $700 million more—for a total of $1 billion, or a third of a billion dollars per foot.

It is proposed that this money come out of the special highway trust fund. And where will the additional money for that fund come from?

Presumably out of the pockets of America's motorists, who already are underwriting the bulk of the fund by paying an average of 47 cents in state and federal taxes on every dollar's worth of gasoline they buy.

Several thoughts come to mind regarding this new proposal.

The first is that the highway fund already is stretched to its breaking point. When cost of the road program was hiked from $27.6 billion to $40 billion because of inflation and the addition of 1,000 miles to the 40,000-mile system originally planned, the government declared it could only keep the fund solvent by imposing a "temporary" one-cent increase to the federal motor-fuel tax.

The second thought is: If enlarged bridges are essential to the defense of America's citizenry, why shouldn't their cost come out of the national defense budget?

The final thought is this: Responsible officials of defense agencies admit that nobody really knows the size of future missile-carrying trucks.

Discoveries and developments in this field are extremely rapid. Military truck beds of the future conceivably are extremely rapid. Military truck beds of the future conceivably might need more than a 17-foot clearance, in which case another rebuilding program would be in order. On the other hand, miniaturization might make future missiles smaller than prototypes.

Under such circumstances, it would seem to be a good idea, before we commit ourselves to spending that extra billion, to make a thorough "economic feasibility" study.

Let's try to find just what actually will be needed, and then determine whether there isn't a fairer way of obtaining whatever funds may be necessary than heaping more gasoline taxes on the backs of America's long-suffering motorists.

What Our Neighbors Say . . .

Scissor Snippings

The Plainsman in the Lubbock Avalanche - Journal: Everybody, nearly, is familiar with an old saw which goes like this: "In the newspaper business, you meet so many interesting people."

I thought I'd seen everything in politics, but the 9 a. m. mail the other day proved that wrong. And in addition to seeing something new in the realm of huff-and puff, I also met—by remote control — a somewhat intriguing individual.

That particular mail brought in the tentative announcement of the candidacy for Statewide office of a fellow who describes himself as "a 35-year-old Austin attorney." The office he is "thinking about" seeking is not one of the very top ones, but it's close to the top. It has to do with the handling of many minute details, including the watch-dogging of the State's income and out-go of money.

Well, the "announcement" came, as I said, at 9 o'clock one morning, but was gratuitously marked by the sender for "release" at 2 p. m. on the day before.

Also, the envelope which brought it here was short of stamps by 7 cents.

Also the "announcement" which the sender fondly thought was a "news story," was part and parcel of a column-long poem in favor of peace. This despite the fact that the office in question isn't any more connected with peace than the corner filling station.

I never before had heard of this particular "35-year-old Austin attorney."

He may be, he probably is, a very nice, well-meaning young fellow and if he does run for the office which he is "thinking of" seeking, I hope he pulls up his britches and does better as the campaign wears on.

But the incident is a frightening one, because—due to the vagaries of politics —almost anybody who runs for office conceivably can get elected. Anyone who doesn't believe this simply hasn't been around very long, or has failed to keep his eyes open.

This instance is a shocking example of an individual employing slovenly methods and poor judgment in a matter of paramount interest to himself. Yet, simultaneously, he offers his services to the people in an office requiring strict application of efficiency and sense.

Heaven help us politically in 1960. We'll need the help.

W. H. Graham, Jr., in the State Line Tribune: I am a self-confessed, everyday practicing optimist. I just know things are going to get better. This is what keeps me going, I guess.

One of the things I am resolving to do in the coming year is to branch out and diversify in business. This putting all your eggs into one basket can be pretty risky business.

I have a number of projects in mind, and although all of them probably won't hit, surely there'll be enough money-making ventures to more than make up for the weak sisters.

The vending machine business intrigues me. It seems so American to have your Cokes, your candy, your chewing gum, your ice, your combs, your music, and now your sandwiches doled out to you by an "automat" that goes into action whenever the proper coins are deposited.

I think the future looks great in this field. To go with those quarter-a-piece sandwiches down the chute, why not a pickledeon alongside?

Why the Stickup Occurred Was The Most Interesting Question

By BOYCE HOUSE

A man, a few years ago, produced several paintings — not copies but originals — that experts proclaimed to be the works of an old master and they sold for tremendous amounts. Afterward, he confessed that he was the artist and was sent to prison. Now if a man could paint portraits that good, why wasn't he a great artist? What makes a painting great — the painting itself or the name signed to it?

There is a school of book reviewers — and most book reviewers belong to that school — that holds that if the rank-and-file of the people like a book, it can not possibly have much merit. Yet Homer sang his "Iliad" for the people; Burns wrote his poems for the people; Dickens' novels were read by the people and Shakespeare composed his plays to be presented to the people. In each instance, the plaudits of the critics came afterward — a very long time afterward. Who now reads "Raintree County" and "From Here to Eternity" — volumes which were hailed by book page editors as "masterpieces" a few short years ago?

The quiz shows which were so popular featured individuals who gave a lot of information from memory (presumably). What the world needs is not people whose minds are filled with miscellaneous data which is readily available if and when needed, in the World Almanac or a one-volume encyclopedia — but rather people who, given a set of facts, can think.

During the depression of the early '30's a young man held up a service station. He ordered the attendant to open the cash-drawer and hand him a nickel. He was captured soon afterward. When asked why he had taken only five cents when there was perhaps $50 in the drawer, he replied that he had had a quarrel with his girl, was completely broke and wanted a nickel so he could call her on the phone and try to patch up the quarrel.

The "why" was the most interesting thing about the holdup.

Many a man burns his bridges behind him, and then finds out that the road ahead is closed.

Revenue Service Urges Self-Help

Taxpayer self-help again will be urged by Internal Revenue Service during the income tax filing period from January 1 to April 15, Hubert B. Hammill, administrative officer of the Amarillo office, said this week.

"Self-help," Hammill explained, "means that we ask the taxpayer to complete as much of his 1959 return as possible before asking our help. This saves the time of IRS people who, in turn, save taxpayers' money when uninterrupted from their routine duties of seeing that every taxpayer bears his fair share of the tax burden."

The revenue representative revealed that many tax problems can be solved by studying the comprehensive instructions that accompany federal income tax forms for 1959.

"Special taxpayer assistance day is every Monday from 8:30 a. m. to 12:30 p. m. On that day, Hammill said, "we have a full crew aboard to give whatever individual or group help is needed."

The IRS office is located at 1414 West 8th Street in Amarillo.

Martha Harding, Dale Jennings Jones Exchange Vows in Church Ceremony

Miss Martha Harding, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Harding of Canyon, became the bride of Dale Jennings Jones of Canyon, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Jones of Spearman, in a ceremony at the First Christian Church at 4 p. m. December 20.

The Rev. Dale Harter, pastor, read the double ring ceremony.

White gladioli and seven-branch candelabra were used at the altar, forming a background with red poinsettias. White gladioli with holly accents were used at the organ and throughout the church. White bows accented with holly marked the pews.

Mrs. Farrell Devenport, soloist, sang "Because" and "Whither Thou Goest." She was accompanied by Miss Dorothy Higdon at the organ.

Carries Matching Muff

Maid of honor was Miss Jackie Barnard of Canyon, who wore a red velvet street-length dress with scoop neckline, ribbon cummerbund midriff and full skirt. She wore a white fur bandeau and carried a matching muff adorned with an arrangement of holly and carnations.

Bridesmaids were Miss Joyce Clifton of Amarillo and Miss Korene Kiser, while Kathy Roberts of Dalhart, niece of the bride, was flower girl. Their costumes were identical to that of the maid of honor, except that the flower girl carried a basket made by her great-grandmother, Mrs. A. A. Harding, of Bowie. This has become a family tradition.

Richard Harding of Canyon, nephew of the bride, was ringbearer, and candlelighters were Miss Barbara Shepard of Amarillo and Lewis Koerselman of Tulia. Mr. Koerselman and Donnie Jones of Spearman, brother of the bridegroom, were ushers.

Cousin Is Best Man

Neal Jameson of Spearman, cousin of the bridegroom, was best man, and groomsmen were Arthur Harding, twin brother of the bride, and Paul Webber of Plainview.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore nylon tulle and rosepoint lace over bridal satin, designed with Queen Anne collar and molded basque bodice trimmed with seed pearls and irridescent sequins. Long sleeves tapered to points over her hands, and the bouffant skirt was fashioned with lace insertions. Her veil of double-tiered illusion was banded with rosepoint lace and fell from a coronet of seed pearls and irridescent sequins.

She carried a prayer book arrangement of orchids and white carnations with cascading feathered carnations.

Reception Follows

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Fellowship Hall of the church.

The serving table was laid with hand-drawn linen cloth centered with an arrangement of a styrofoam Bible and silver bells with red candles, designed by Mrs. W. R. Crow and Mrs. Jack Barnard.

Miss Barbara Shepard of Amarillo was at the guest book, and other members of the house party were Mrs. Floyd Kiser, Mrs. Jerry Harding, Mrs. Dwayne Roberts, Mrs. W. W. Camp, and Mrs. W. M. Higdon.

Wedding Trip

For the wedding trip to New Mexico, the bride chose a suit of tangerine and blue wool trimmed with ranch mink. She wore tangerine accessories and a white orchid corsage.

After January 1, the couple will make their home in the Downing Apartments here. A graduate of Canyon High School, the bride is presently a student at West Texas State College. The bridegroom is a graduate of Spearman High School and is now a student at WT, where he is a member of Buffalo Bills and Kappa Kappa Psi music fraternity.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones will continue their studies at WT.

Showers Fete Bride

Prior to her marriage, the bride was honored with a miscellaneous shower given in the home of Mrs. W. M. Higdon with co-hostesses Mrs. Cass Jennings, Mrs. W. W. Camp, Mrs. Oren Crowell, Mrs. Guy Ford, Mrs. S. L. Robinson, Mrs. George Hill, Mrs. R. E. White, Mrs. Jack Barnard, Mrs. C. N. Cosby, Mrs. E. A. Michael, Mrs. A. B. Gray, and Mrs. W. F. Bonds.

Hostesses for a personal shower in her honor were Mrs. Arlen Ruthart, Mrs. Joe Britt, Mrs. Farrell Devenport, Miss Barbara Shepard, Miss Jackie Barnard, Mrs. C. Gorton, Miss Sandra Michael, and Miss Korene Kiser.

Set a good example by square dealing—not by shouting.

This week, as we study the blueprints of 1960, we're wondering what kind of home we'll build for our hopes and dreams next year.

Will the house in which our hearts are to reside be one of many rooms, open with warmth and friendship to all we know? Or will we build an "efficiency" apartment, to enclose ourselves and leave no room for disappointment and hurt? Will our dispositions have a southern exposure, toward the sunlight? Or will the cold northern light, the "true" light of the artist, fill our lives during the year?

In many ways we can improve on the blueprints of 1959. Some features are good, yes; but the old plans won't quite serve again. Those shelves on which memories are stored: we'll need them in the new home. And the double sink, to wash away worries, then rinse them out to dry. We'd best keep the recessed ironing board, too, where we can smooth out the wrinkles of daily cares.

In planning our new shelter, we'll profit by past mistakes. There will be less space for the false gods that have cluttered our lives, more for quietness and repose.

Moving to the new house will do us good, whether we have more room or less. For we'll clear out some of the unfulfilled promises, the hoarded talents, the stored-up regrets. Forgotten treasures will be brought to light, and perhaps put to use.

As we make ready the blueprints of the new year we see again: it's not the kind of house we live in, it's the kind of "we" that goes into the house that determines what happens to hopes and dreams in 1960.

Howard, Henry Exchange Vows

Della Faye Howard of Amarillo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Karl Gillespie of Childress and Bobby Gene Henry of Happy were married at 8 p. m. January 2 in Calvary Baptist Church.

The bride was dressed in a blue jersey dress with pink accessories and the traditional something old, something new, something borrowed and something blue.

Attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Capansky of Amarillo.

The bride is employed at Pantex Ordnance Plant in Amarillo. The bridegroom is a senior at West Texas State College.

After a short trip to Lubbock, the couple will be at home at 2105 Fifth Avenue in Canyon.

Sheriff's Posse Elects Officers

A slate of officers was elected and a uniform agreed upon Monday at the organizational meeting of the Randall County Sheriff's Posse.

Officers elected were R. B. Allen, president, Earl Reynolds, vice president; Bill Clifford, secretary-treasurer, John Carlile, director, and Carl Ayers of Amarillo, director.

Some 52 persons attended the meeting of the posse, and 28 of these paid dues. Several others in the group indicated they plan to mail their $10 yearly dues to the organization.

The uniform adopted Monday night included a white western shirt with a shoulder insignia, blue levi's, a three and one-half inch western hat, a gold star badge, western boots, western belt, and a red neckerchief.

Allen said membership in the sheriff's posse is open to everyone, with the only restriction being that members must meet the requirements of the parade marshal.

In the event the posse is called by the sheriff, only adult male members of the organization are eligible for call, Allen said.

Revenue Officer Gives Tax Data

Requirements for filing Federal income tax returns for 1959 were announced this week by H. B. Hamill of Internal Revenue Service.

To sum it up, "most people with $600 or more of gross income for 1959 must file a return with Uncle Sam," Hamill said.

Every citizen or resident of the U.S.A.—whether adult or minor—who had $600 or more gross income in 1959 must file; if 65 or over, $1,200 or more.

"However," Hamill continued, "if you're self-employed, you file a return if your self-employment income was $400 or more, even though your gross income was less than $600."

The Revenue representative added these potent points:

A person with income of less than these amounts should file a '59 return to get a refund if tax was withheld.

A married person with income less than his own personal exemption should file a joint return with husband or wife to get the smaller tax or larger refund for the couple.

Members of armed forces should give name, service serial number, and permanent home address.

Area taxpayers are urged to file their returns for '59 with their IRS District Director as soon after January 1, 1960, as possible.

"Although the filing deadline is April 15, folks who wait until the last minute find it more difficult to get technical help the nearer the final day approaches."

"Also," Hamill said, "last minute filers make more costly errors in their returns."

Checks or money orders for any tax due should be clipped, not stapled, to the return and should be made payable to the "Internal Revenue Service."

Taxpayers with technical problems may have them solved by phoning IRS at DR 2-6516, or by visiting their office at 1414 W8th in Amarillo.

Special taxpayer assistance day is every Monday.

Social Security Tax Increased

H. B. Hamill, administrative officer of the Amarillo office, today called attention to the increase in Social Security tax rates which became effective January 1, under the Federal Insurance Contributions Act.

The tax rates will increase to three percent for employers and three percent for employees, or a total of six percent. These rates will apply to wages paid on or after January 1, 1960, even though the wages are earned prior to that date.

The taxes continue to apply to the first $4,800 of wages paid.

Internal Revenue Service publications containing revised Social Security tax tables are now available at all Internal Revenue Service offices.

HOMEOWNER TAX FACTS

Loss Due to Damage, Destruction Of Property Might Be Deductible

(This is one in a series of articles on federal income tax filing. These articles are based on information provided by the American Institute of Certified Accountants, in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service.)

You can get some relief from casualty and theft losses by taking advantage of the legitimate tax deducations you are allowed.

To help you prepare a correct return and take advantage of legitimate tax savings, The Canyon News is printing a series of four articles prepared with the help of the state and national organizations of certified public accountants.

This week's article considers the problems you may have in claiming deductions for theft or casualty losses. Later articles will offer advice on other tax problems of particular interest to homeowners.

Time and Destruction

There are a great many ways in which your property can be damaged or destroyed, as for example, by hail storm, fire, flood, or explosion. Generally, a casualty which will give rise to deductibly loss must occur with some suddenness. However, there are situations where the casualty occurs over of period of time and still results in a deductible casualty loss. For example, consider the damage caused by termites.

Say that you purchased your house in June, 1957, and at that time a check by experts showed that there were no termites present. Then, in February, 1958, you discover that termites have been eating your house from under you. can you claim a casualty loss deduction for the termite damage?

Yes, you can, even though the damage took place over a nine month period.

Invasion of Home

The casualty here is the invasion of your house by the termites. However, it is probable that a casualty deduction will not be allowed where the termite damage did not occur over a relatively short period of time.

You must have ownership of the damaged property to claim a loss in value unless your own property was actually damaged.

Auto Accident Deductions

You can claim a deduction for a drop in the value of your car due to an accident. This is true regardless of whether you or another driver is to blame, unless the accident is a result of willful negligence.

However, if you are responsible for a car accident and have to pay for damage inflicted on someone else's car, you cannot deduct the payment as a casualty loss.

Determining the amount you can claim as a casualty loss may be very difficult. Generally you are allowed to claim the amount by which your property decreased in value. In some cases, a repair bill will be considered sufficient to support your deduction.

Gather Information

The best thing you can do is gather together any information that may help support the amount you claim as a deduction. For example, if your house is badly damaged, a qualified architect can often give a reasonable estimate of the before and after value. The appraisal fee, by the way, is a deductible expense.

You can claim a deduction for the value of property that is stolen. The problem in claiming losses from theft is that you will probably have to show some evidence that the theft took place.

Be sure that there is at least a police record of the theft and a report of any findings the police may have come up with. Also, you might keep track of newspaper accounts, insurance reports, and so on.

Deductible Same Year

Theft losses are deductible in the year you discover that your property is missing.

You can get additional information on casualty and theft deductions from the instruction booklet issued by the Internal Revenue Service each year.

Joyce White, Richard M. Dickey Married in Ceremony at Chapel

Joyce White and Richard M. Dickey were married in a double ring ceremony read December 19 at 5 p. m. in the Joseph A. Hill Chapel at West Texas State College by Gordon Downing, director of the Church of Christ Bible Chair.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. White of Canyon are parents of the bride, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. May Dickey of Seagraves.

Vows were exchanged at an altar backed with red and white gladioli and candelabra which held white tapers. Mrs. Don Duncan, organist, provided traditional wedding music and accompanied Ronnie Downing, who sang "Whither Thou Goest" and "The Wedding Prayer."

Dressed in Velveteen

Miss Carol Holman of Canyon and Mrs. O. J. Huesties of Amarillo, sister of the bride, were the bridal attendants. They wore dresses of red velveteen with formal length white gloves and white headpieces and carried bouquets of white gladioli.

Sharon Mello, niece of the bride, and Margaret Frerich were candlelighters. They wore dresses identical to those of the bridal attendants. Flower girl was Debbie Lane of Amarillo, and Jerry Rowell of Dumas, cousin of the bride, was ring bearer.

Best man was Stanley Sawyer and Gerald Neel was groomsman. Ushers were Ralph White, brother of the bride, and Edgar Frerich.

Wears Chantilly Lace

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a waltz length gown of white Chantilly lace fashioned over layers of tulle with a fitted bodice and a scalloped and jeweled neckline. The waist tapered to a V in front and was accented by a large matching lace bow in the back. Her fingertip veil of bridal illusion fell from a queen's crown of lace encrusted with seed pearls and sequins.

She carried a white Bible with Garnette roses.

Reception Follows

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Church of Christ Bible Chair.

The table was laid with a white cutwork tablecloth over red, with red and white gladioli and candelabra with red tapers as a centerpiece. Assisting were Mrs. M. R. Klinkevich of Oklahoma City and Mrs. Wayne Price, sisters of the bride; Mrs. Bob Hendrickson, Mrs. O. H. Crowell, Mrs. S. L. Robinson, and Mrs. J. R. Devin.

Miss Helen Hood registered the guests.

To Live in Dumas

After a wedding trip to Houston, the couple will be at home in Dumas. The bride is a graduate of WT and is employed by the Dumas Public Schools. The bridegroom is also a WT graduate and will enter the U. S. Army in January for two years of service.

My parents moved to Armstrong County in 1890 and my husband was born in South Amarillo in Randall County in 1890. We were married October 7, 1908, and moved to our present home in March, 1909. I must pause to thank God for his goodness to us. We have a son, E. E. Wesley; a daughter, Othell Wesley Whitson; six grandchildren; and one great-grandson. We haven't been blessed with a lot of this world's goods, but we are so thankful for God and his great love for he has been so good to us and our family. Again we wish all a happy and prosperous New Year. We have witnessed many changes in this plains country.

PREDICTIONS APLENTY HERE FOR NEXT TELEVISION YEAR

By OSCAR GRIFFIN

It's that time of the year again—when everybody begins making their annual predictions for the coming year.

And since people spend so much time looking at television nowadays, here are a few things to watch for during the next year on the one-eyed monster:

1. That Bat Masterson's cane will be stolen and the blackguards that did it will force him to take up sportswriting for a living.

2. That Mickey Rooney will not appear on the Jack Paar show.

3. That Johnny Ringo will strike for a pretty cowgirl songstress to go with that jazzy music. He'll find her in an off-beat saloon called "Ma's."

4. That Paladin will be forced out of business because he won't be able to get travel reservations to wherever the trouble is.

5. That nobody will show up for Revlon's Big Party.

6. That Chester will outdraw Marshal Dillon one of these Saturday nights—then add insult to injury by running off with Kitty.

7. That Huckleberry Hound will become the nation's No. 1 television program.

8. That Trigger will pull up lame and Roy will have to shoot him because Trigger won't be able to trot to him when he whistles.

9. That Josh Randall will be the subject of a territory-wide manhunt. Another bounty hunter will finally catch up with him when the reward is raised to $1,000—dead or alive.

10. That Alfred Hitchcock's sponsor finally will tire of his snide remarks and kick him off the air.

Commissioner Bailie McCormick took me on a tour of the "old" Precinct last week for a look at some caliche roads in this area, and it proved to be enlightening.

Commissioner C. Y. Johnson's statement that he was leery of caliche improvements to roads in his precinct brought about my request for the tour.

Most of McCormick's caliche roads have been down a couple of years and they were as smooth and as dry as the asphalt roads in the same area. It had rained prior to our tour and we were leery of the unimproved roads.

Cost of the caliche roads is about $750 per mile for material, including the salt to seal the caliche—which appears to be the secret in putting down a first-class caliche road. This is one of the cheapest methods of improving a dirt road.

The tour led me to this conclusion: Give me caliche over dirt any day.

Board of Control in Austin Shops for 200 State Offices

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

AUSTIN—If you are adding up the Christmas bills and wondering what all that money was spent for, then consider the task of the Board of Control.

This relatively small state department is personal shopper for 200 state agencies. During the past fiscal year it selected the goods and paid the bills for purchases totaling $80,000,000.

These millions went for more items than the average citizen can imagine. Everyone realizes that it requires tons of paper, thousands of filing cabinets, typewriters, desks and chairs to run the state's business . . . but —

Where the Yellow Goes

Ever wonder how much yellow paint it takes to put a stripe down the highway from Amarillo to Brownsville?

Board of Control staff knows just how much to get for a given stretch of road and sees to it that the paint has little glass beads ground up into it to reflect your auto headlights at night. Just the other day they bought $100,000 worth of the little glass beads, alone.

Board of Control buys all the state's automobiles — as well as trucks, tractors, motor scooters, motor graders, snow plows, and school buses (for schools receiving state aid). Last week they purchased $326,000 worth of new Plymouths.

Buttons to Diving Suits

It buys the industrial machinery with which the state prison system makes the state license plates. It buys the paper for your drivers license and pays for the printing.

It also buys buttons and zippers and shoes and socks and surgical tools and skin diving suits.

"We buy practically everything," says Executive Director William J. Burke.

It's a list that sounds unbelievable until the use for each item is run down. Clothing and repair needs for the apparel of the thousands of persons in state hospitals and schools must be bought by the Board of Control. State hospitals use surgical equipment. Game and Fish Commission uses boats and skin diving equipment in its inspection work.

Clay to Steel Doors

If the State School for Girls at Gainesville starts a pottery class, Board of Control buys the clay. If the prison system builds a new prison building, Board of Control scouts around for the best buy in steel-barred doors.

Board of Control itself is a big user of paper. In the past fiscal year it processed 450,000 invoices. Nine employees handled these at the rate of 1,921 a day. It takes 15,000 envelopes to handle an average weekly mailing of bid invitations to suppliers.

It's all done according to a very businesslike system. Purchases are consolidated, standardized, scheduled, bid on, and checked for specifications, value, and performance.

Yet all this procedure doesn't kill the element of human enjoyment. Director Burke recounts with relish the million printed envelopes just bought for a large state department at $2.80 a thousand. That's less than the usual cost of unprinted envelopes .

5 Cent Tomato Juice?

Comparable pleasure can be found in housewives who have just found diapers at a dollar a dozen or tomato juice at five cents a can.

Board of Control is about to have its 40th anniversary. It began operation in 1920 after a statute passed in 1919 combined in one agency a number of state functions.

It is topped by a part-time policy making board whose three members serve overlapping six-year terms. They are appointed by the governor.

Present board members are E. E. McAdams of Austin, chairman; F. H. Flewellen of Austin, and C. F. McAuliff of Dallas.

Burke, an executive director, is the top administrative officer. Under him are five divisions set up on what he terms "a check-and-balance system."

Work of Divisions

A specification division works out requirements for items to be bought. Purchasing division buys them. Administrative services handles the clerical work. Inspection division has a team of "watchdogs" who go over the state to check new purchases to be sure they're what they should be.

A fifth division, building engineering and management, sees to a staggering list of housekeeping chores for the Capitol and state buildings. When the buildings now under way or being planned around the Capitol are finished, the Board of Control anticipates operating a heating system that will put out 60,000 pounds of steam heat an hour and an air conditioning system of 2,750 tons.

It also sees to the upkeep of the Governor's Mansion, the San Jacinto and Fannin State Parks and the State Cemetery. It handles the rentals for state offices outside of Austin which do not have state quarters. Last year this required 356,000 square feet of office space.

As to the state buildings going up in Austin, Burke feels sure they will save the state money over the old rental system. "Besides having to pay rent," he pointed out, "the state can only lease for two years at a time, and you never know when you may have to move, which is expensive."

Is 'Brand X' Best?

In the course of their myriad chores, Board of Control staffers become expert on many subjects. They learn the price of dairy cattle (for prison farms) or diamond drills, short wave radios and food mixers.

Many know more about the comparative value of dishwashing detergents and floor waxes than most housewives. They make extensive tests to find out.

As Burke explained, if "Brand-X" can be proved to serve as well as a more expensive one, in state institution dishwashers, as much as $30,000 can be saved on one purchase.

Specifications people spent hours, according to Burke, proving out a floor wax they felt would save money and serve the purpose. They even applied and polished it, he said, and made periodic checks on its staying power.

"We try to be more careful with the state's money than we would even with our own," says Burke. "I honestly wish I could take every Texas taxpayer on a guided tour of the whole operation."

Vote Tuesday on Committeeman

Residents of Randall County's Precinct 1 Tuesday will elect a committeeman for the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1.

Nominees for the post are Joe H. Berntsen and J. R. Parker, both of Canyon. The polls will open at 8 a. m. Tuesday at the V.F.W. Hall, north of Canyon.

All qualified voters of Precinct 1 are eligible to vote in the election. Poll tax receipts used for voting in 1959 elections will be used.

One committeeman will be elected in each county within the water conservation district.

Woody died December 31 at the VA Hospital in Amarillo.

Services were conducted by Rev. Nolan Kennedy, pastor of the San Jacinto Baptist Church in Amarillo. Burial was in Dreamland Cemetery.

From Shattuck, Okla., Woody is survived by his wife; five daughters, Mrs. Black, Mrs. Cecil McClellen and Mrs. W. D. Crow, both of Deming, N. M., Mrs. Guy Webb of Corpus Christi, and Mrs. Ada Herber of Shattuck, Okla.; five sons, Clarence Woody of Inglewood, Calif., C. L. WARREN'S

Washington Report

1960: What to Expect

By Representative Walter Rogers
18th Congressional District

1960 will be an unusual year in Congress. It is a presidential election year, which usually means that highly controversial issues will be at a standstill.

However, this will not be the case in 1960, the reason being that there probably has never been a time in our history when there were more crucial as well as controversial issues to be faced both on the domestic and international fronts. Let us divide these into their respective categories.

The international front:

1. The arms race between the free world and the communist world. There will undoubtedly be many suggestions as to disarmament programs and disarmament proposals. These must be weighed in the finest balance. The destructive power of mordern-day weapons demands that any disarmament proposal not be tainted with the slightest degree of misunderstanding or ambiguity. One misstep could mean the beginning of events that could easily lead to the third world war.

Need Firm Stand

2. Summit meeting. Whatever subjects may be finally decided upon for discussion at the scheduled summit talks, it can be expected that these talks will provide issues to be decided upon by this country that can and undoubtedly will develop much controversy. The settlement of these issues which will develop cannot wait simply because this is a presidential election year. A firm and unmistakable stand must be taken and these issues must be squarely defined and debated so that the American people can have a clear understanding of what is at stake.

3. Economic trends. Our world markets will undoubtedly be challenged to a greater degree in 1960 than heretofore. The European Common Market, which anticipates an economic coordination as well as a political coordination between the six-member countries, can be expected to have a noticeable influence in world trade.

The same is true of the so-called "Outer Seven," which includes Great Britain and six other countries in the European and Scandinavian areas. How much further Russia will move into the consumer goods area is not yet known, but her activities in this regard could have further influence on the world commerce picture.

Recognize Red China?

4. Recognition of Red China. This will be a number one issue in 1960 and will be the subject of extended debate in the Congress of the United States. Many take the position that the free Chinese on Formosa are an ineffective force and are expendable; that the present communist government of Red China is the government of the Chinese people and should be recognized.

On the other hand, there are those who subscribe to the policy that no nation should be allowed to obtain recognition from this country by the use of force and arms and that until the Chinese people have had a fair and undictated opportunity to make an honest choice as to their government, our continued recognition of the free Chinese government should not be changed.

Might Lose Markets

Most of the demand for recognition of Red China comes from the clamor of many countries who depend upon trade. They realize the vast market which is available in Red China. The advocates of recognition in this country also believe that unless we recognize Red China, we will lose much of these markets. This is a subject that should be thoroughly understood by the American people before any action is taken. It would be a most serious step and principles should not be sacrificed for possible material profit.

The Domestic Front:

1. Taxes. The entire tax structure is undergoing a complete surveillance anticipatory of a complete overhaul. As I pointed out earlier in the fall, there is not much possibility of a tax cut in 1960. However, it is expected that the groundwork will be laid to bring about much-needed corrective measures in early 1961.

Contrary to Basic Law

2. Civil rights. The so-called civil rights advocates have again become vociferous and can be expected to push and plan to make it possible for the attorney general to represent individual citizens in the courts regardless of the desires of the individual citizen involved. This may look good on its face, but it is contrary to the basic law of this country and could do much damage in furthering the centralization of this government.

3. Health insurance. This, sometimes referred to as socialized medicine, will be a subject of great controversy in 1960. It is presently rumored that the administration will come forward with a measure similar to pending proposals and efforts will be made to push through this type of legislation. Many feel that there are political overtones involved. In any event, the people generally should be on the alert.

There are many other issues which I must wait until later newsletters to discuss, because of the lack of space.

A Happy New Year to all.
